

Peace of Mind Guarantee – MediNotes Charting Plus EHR

MediNotes Corporation Offers Unprecedented Guarantee to Cover Impending Government Requirements and Direction for Electronic Medical Records
August 5, 2005 -- MediNotes Corporation, a nationwide provider of Electronic Medical Record (EMR) Solutions for Physicians announced, at its annual user conference, that it will provide a guarantee and assurance program. The program ensures that all MediNotes clients on its Software Assurance Program will be provided with the software to meet, and in some cases exceed, impending government requirements for Electronic Medical Records.

"The MediNotes Electronic Medical Record Solution is proven to help physicians improve their ability to provide quality healthcare. The tools are powerful and will only continue to improve as we incorporate government standards and initiatives. We want our physician users to have peace of mind that they can select MediNotes today and know that it will continue to work for them despite changing government regulations or requirements," says Don Schoen, President and CEO of MediNotes.

Dr. John Scibal, a user of MediNotes since 1999 says, "We are so pleased to hear this announcement. With so much news about pending legislation and new 'interoperability standards,' one can become concerned about making any investment in an EMR. Of course, having been a MediNotes customer during Y2K or HIPAA, I'm not surprised by their commitment. They've never charged more to keep the software compliant."
